

*Note***

The following lists, in alphabetical order, suppliers and installers which currently sell and/or install devices that are not compliant with ComReg's technical conditions to meet the licence exemption for mobile phone repeaters. ComReg is providing this list in order to assist transparency for consumers.

ComReg does not endorse any of these suppliers or installers, and consumers should do their own research on which device is most appropriate for their own needs in terms of quality and price.

Please check with the manufacturer which of its devices are compliant with Irish law. Non-compliant devices are illegal under the Wireless Telegraphy Act 1926 (as amended) and could potentially cause interference to mobile network operators or may not operate on Irish mobile frequencies. ComReg will regularly review this list to ensure that it is kept up-to-date.

Further questions can be directed to: marketsurveillance@comreg.ie

Please note that this list is in relation to the non-compliance of mobile phone signal repeaters listed on each website and not in relation to other devices that may be sold on each website.

- AliBaba.com
- AliExpress.com
- Boostersireland.com
- Irelandbooster.com
- Myamplifiers.com
- Wish.com